Why This Certification, Why Now

Agile teams are moving agentic AI from experimentation into everyday delivery — across sprint planning, standups, and retrospectives — while agile still depends on servant leadership, team autonomy, and human judgment. This is the skillset that bridges both sides.

Autonomous agents are entering Scrum

Agile teams already use AI agents to summarize standups, refine backlogs, track impediments, and forecast sprint-completion risk.

Teams expect faster, informed delivery

Reporting, metrics, and retrospective insights are moving from manual effort to real-time agentic workflows.

Agile principles are still at stake

Team autonomy, psychological safety, and servant leadership demand skills that generic AI training doesn't cover.

Leaders need responsible AI, not just automation

Organizations want agile-AI that is transparent, explainable, and human-overseen — not a black box that replaces ceremonies.

FROM THEORY TO PRACTICE

What You'll Be Able to Do

Understand the fundamentals of agentic AI and its applications across modern Scrum and agile delivery

Explain agentic AI architectures, reasoning, memory, and autonomous agile workflows

Apply agentic AI to sprint planning, backlog refinement, standups, and retrospective analysis

Improve team collaboration, facilitation, sentiment analysis, and impediment resolution with AI agents

Optimize delivery with AI-driven velocity, flow metrics, and predictive sprint and release forecasting

Scale agility responsibly across SAFe and LeSS with transparency, privacy, and human oversight

IS THIS FOR YOU?

Who Is This Certification For?

- Scrum Masters and agile coaches
- Agile team leads and delivery leads
- Product owners working closely with agile teams
- Professionals leading agile transformation
- Delivery managers and program / PMO leads adopting AI
- Agile practitioners exploring AI as a career differentiator
- Anyone pursuing agentic AI for Scrum Masters to advance their career

PRE-REQUISITES

There are no mandatory prerequisites. Familiarity with Scrum and agile practices and a basic understanding of AI will be beneficial, but no formal AI background is required — the program builds from the foundations of Agentic AI and applies them directly to real Scrum events, artifacts, and team-facilitation workflows.

Learn from Experts

Learn from experienced practitioners and industry leaders who design, update, and teach the program — bringing real-world agentic AI and agile-delivery expertise to every module.

What You'll Learn

16+ hours across the full agile-delivery AI journey, with hands-on demos and real frameworks built into every module. Each module pairs videos and e-books with templates and Learn-By-Doing activities.

1

Foundations of AI, Generative AI, and Agentic AI

Autonomy, goal-orientation, and the shift from content generation to autonomous action

2

Architecture of AI Agents and Multi-Agent Systems

LLM core, memory, planning, tool use, and orchestration frameworks

3

Agentic AI Across Scrum Events and Artifacts

Sprint planning, backlog refinement, standup summaries, and retrospective insights

4

Team Facilitation and Coaching with AI

Ceremony facilitation, team health, sentiment, and impediment resolution

5

Agile Metrics, Flow, and Delivery Optimization

Velocity, burndown, flow metrics, and predictive sprint forecasting

6

Scaling Agile with Agentic AI

SAFe, LeSS, cross-team coordination, and Jira / Azure DevOps integration

7

Governance, Ethics, and Responsible AI in Agile Teams

Servant leadership, transparency, privacy, and change management

8

Capstone Project — Applied Agentic Scrum Workflow

Design an agentic workflow across a full sprint cycle, planning to retrospective

Module-by-Module

Module 1 — Foundations of AI, Generative AI, and Agentic AI

- Evolution from Traditional AI to Generative AI to Agentic AI
- What makes AI “agentic”: autonomy, goal-orientation, and decision-making
- Generative vs agentic AI: content creation vs autonomous action
- Core concepts: agents, environments, goals, actions, and feedback loops
- Overview of the agentic AI landscape and enterprise use cases

Module 2 — Architecture of AI Agents and Multi-Agent Systems

- Anatomy of an AI agent: LLM core, memory, planning, and tool use
- Reasoning and planning techniques (ReAct, Chain-of-Thought, Reflection)
- Memory systems: short-term, long-term, and Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG)
- Tool calling, function calling, and API/data integration
- Multi-agent orchestration, collaboration, and workflow design
- Popular agentic frameworks (LangChain, LangGraph, AutoGen, CrewAI)

Module 3 — Agentic AI Across Scrum Events and Artifacts

- AI agents supporting sprint planning and estimation
- Automated backlog refinement and story drafting
- Daily standup summaries and impediment tracking
- Sprint review and retrospective insight generation

Module 4 — Team Facilitation and Coaching with AI

- Agentic facilitation of agile ceremonies
- Team health, sentiment, and engagement monitoring
- Impediment detection and resolution support
- AI-assisted coaching and continuous improvement

Module-by-Module

Module 5 — Agile Metrics, Flow, and Delivery Optimization

- Autonomous velocity, burndown, and flow metrics
- Predictive sprint and release forecasting
- Bottleneck and dependency detection agents
- Quality and delivery-risk monitoring

Module 6 — Scaling Agile with Agentic AI

- AI support for SAFe, LeSS, and scaled frameworks
- Cross-team coordination and dependency management
- Program-Increment planning assistance
- Integrating agents with agile tooling (Jira, Azure DevOps)

Module 7 — Governance, Ethics, and Responsible AI in Agile Teams

- Servant leadership and human-centered AI use
- Transparency, trust, and team autonomy
- Data privacy and ethical monitoring of teams
- Change management for AI-augmented agile

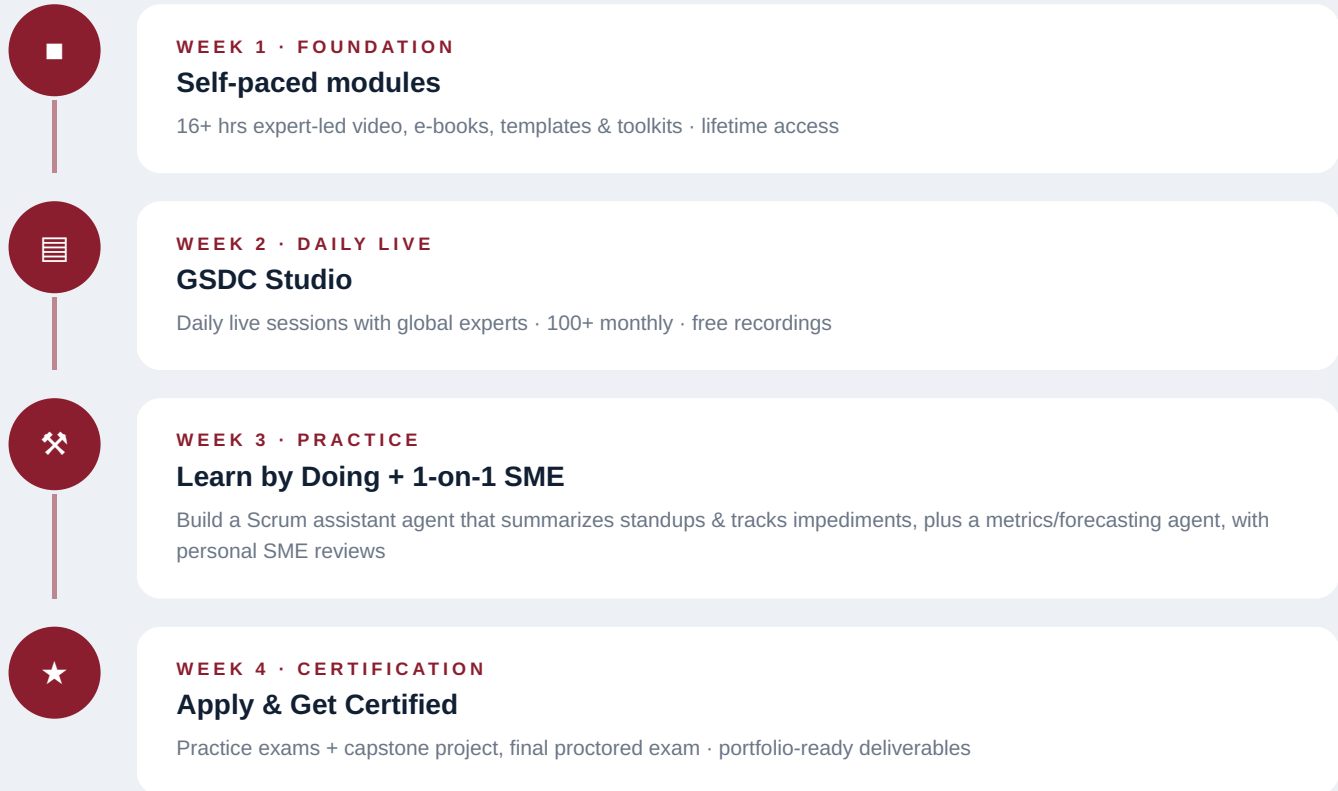

Capstone Project · Applied Agentic Scrum Workflow

- Design an agentic workflow that supports a full sprint cycle, from planning to retrospective, preserving servant leadership and team autonomy.
- SME-reviewed, portfolio-ready. Plus 1-on-1 and daily expert sessions.

A Guided 4-Week Path to Certification

Self-paced study, daily live sessions, personal mentoring, and hands-on practice — finish in as little as one week.

Move at your own pace. This is a suggested roadmap — driven learners can finish in as little as one week.
