WHAT OPENS UP

900+ HR roles across eight families

"HR" is not one job — it's a field of hundreds of titles across talent, operations, rewards, and leadership. The CHRP is built to map onto the roles employers are actually hiring for.

Talent Acquisition

Recruiter, Talent Partner, TA Manager — sourcing and hiring across the funnel.

HR Operations

HR Operations Manager, HR Generalist, HR Coordinator — the engine room of people processes.

Employee Relations

ER Specialist, Engagement Manager — culture, conflict, and retention.

Total Rewards

Comp & Benefits Analyst, Rewards Manager — pay, benefits, and incentives.

Learning & Development

L&D Specialist, Training Manager — capability building and growth.

HR Business Partner

HRBP, Sr. HRBP — aligning people strategy with the business.

People Analytics

People Analyst, HRIS / HR Tech roles — data- and systems-driven HR.

HR Leadership

HR Manager, Sr. HR Manager, Director, CHRO track — leading the function.

ROLE SPOTLIGHT

The HR Manager track, up close

HR Manager is one of the most in-demand, most flexible roles in the field — on-site or remote, generalist or specialized. Here's the shape of it.

Core responsibilities

Owning hiring, onboarding, performance, ER, and policy for a team or business unit.

HR Operations Manager

Running the systems, processes, and compliance that keep HR delivering at scale.

Senior HR Manager

Broader scope, multiple teams, and a seat closer to business decisions.

HR Program Manager

Leading cross-functional people programs end to end.

Remote HR Manager

Distributed-team people leadership — a fast-growing slice of the market.

Compensation

Pay scales with scope and seniority; the CHRP signals readiness for more of both.

WHERE IT LEADS

From first HR role to the leadership table

The 900+ roles aren't scattered — they ladder. The CHRP gives you the foundation to climb from entry to executive.

1

HR Coordinator / Generalist

Entry into the field — broad exposure across HR duties.

ENTRY

2

HR Manager / HR Operations Manager

Own outcomes for a team or unit; the CHRP sweet spot.

MID

3

Senior HR Manager / HRBP

Wider scope and a stronger link to business strategy.

SENIOR

4

HR Director / Head of People

Function leadership across the organization.

LEAD

5

VP People / CHRO

People strategy at the executive table.

THE TIMING

Why this window matters

HR hiring is broad, global, and increasingly remote. A recognized credential helps your application rise — and the enrollment window for this single-access intake won't stay open.

Breadth of demand

900+ HR roles span every industry, from startups to enterprises.

Remote-friendly

HR Manager roles are increasingly open to distributed and remote work.

Global recognition

A CHRP credential reads the same across markets and borders.

Screening edge

A credential helps your profile clear the first hiring filter.
