Just wrapped up a big milestone — officially a Certified Learning & Development Professional!

from GSDC - Global Skill Development Council accredited by ANSI - American National Standards Institute & ABICB - Accreditation Board for International Certification Bodies

Working in L&D has taught me that creating meaningful learning experiences isn't just about content or tools, it's about people, impact, and continuous growth. This certification was a great way to sharpen my skills, reflect on what's working, and explore new strategies to take learning even further.

Grateful for the opportunity to keep growing in a field I genuinely enjoy and excited for what's next! Throughout the process, I've reflected on:

- The impact of thoughtful L&D on employee experience
- The role of continuous learning in shaping resilient organizations
- And most importantly, how human this work really is Huge thanks to everyone who supported me along the way. I'm excited to keep learning, keep growing, and help others do the same because learning never stops, and neither will I.
