Introduction

Certified ISO 20022 Lead Auditor

ISO 20022 certification is gaining importance in the world of financial operations. The GSDC ISO 20022 Lead Auditor certification verifies expertise in this standard - the emerging data standard for modern payment systems. With ISO 20022 adoption accelerating globally, certified ISO 20022 lead auditor professionals have relevant skills to assess and validate financial messaging systems and services.

Earning this certification demonstrates specialization in the ISO 20022 data format and protocols. As financial institutions migrate to ISO 20022, certified auditors will be crucial in driving and validating the transition. This designation showcases capabilities in this standard's assessment methodologies required for oversight during large-scale ISO 20022 projects.

Given the expanding global ISO 20022 footprint, this ISO 20022 certification has significant long-term value for audit, risk, and compliance professionals in finance.
