Introduction

Certified in Sustainability Professional

The GSDC Certified Sustainability Professional certification demonstrates expertise in implementing sustainable IT solutions. As climate change threatens our world, certified sustainability professionals have never been more vital. This certification equips IT professionals with the knowledge of energy efficiency, e-waste management, and green data center design needed to develop sustainable systems.

By proving competency in areas like greenhouse gas accounting and environmental impact assessments, the GSDC-certified sustainability IT professional certification shows one's ability to effectively integrate sustainability into IT operations.

With the IT industry responsible for 2% of global CO2 emissions, certified sustainability IT professionals have a crucial role to play in building a greener digital future. This prestigious credential validates technical professionals as trusted sustainability IT advisors.

Certified Learning & Development Professional CLDP
I took the certification course "Certified Learning & Development Professional CLDP" approved by the GSDC - Global Skill Development Council. So grateful to the professional team at the GSDC for this enlightening opportunity; namely, Ruguzeno, for her dedication, responsiveness, and constant support throughout this learning journey. And very special thanks to the amazing trainer and coach Deepak Sharma for the great weekly live sessions which I believe are the highlight of this certification programme. His knowledge, expertise, and outstanding skills have made the course very insightful, engaging, and enjoyable!
